2014 ACNP Eva King Killam Research Award

The American College of Neuropsychopharmacology (ACNP) presents the Eva King Killam Award, to an individual on the basis of outstanding translational research contributions to neuropsychopharmacology. The contributions should focus on translating advances from basic science to human investigations. The selection of the awardee is based on the quality of the contribution and its impact in advancing neuropsychopharmacology. Award recipients will receive a monetary award and a plaque to be given at the ACNP Annual Meeting in Phoenix, Arizona, December 7-11, 2014. Award recipients who are not members of the ACNP may also be reimbursed for their expenses to attend the Annual Meeting. The Award winner must attend the Annual Meeting.

This award was first given in 2011 and is named after Eva King Killam, who served as the first woman President of the ACNP in 1988.

Any scientist, worldwide, may nominate an individual for this award by submitting to the Awards Committee:

- a. The nominating letter (no more than three pages) should include a description of the contribution(s) of the candidate and also the significance of his/her contribution(s); (additional supporting letters are not needed and will not be considered).
- b. The curriculum vitae of the candidate.
- c. No more than three papers representing the contribution(s) (career contributions or specific works) upon which the Award would be based.

Individuals who believe that they meet the qualifications for the award are encouraged to request a nomination from a qualified scientist. The nominee could provide the nominator with a draft of the nominating letter and above reference documents (b-c).

Note: neither the nominee nor the nominator is required to be an ACNP member.

The recipient of the Eva King Killam Research Award must be fifty (50) years of age or younger as of December 31, 2014. He/she does not need to be a member of the ACNP or a citizen of the United States. Nomination of women and minorities is highly encouraged.
